Breaking News: Two Nobel Laureates to Speak at ICE 2016

Dr. Peter Agre, the Bloomberg Distinguished Professor at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and Bloomberg School of Public Health, will speak at ICE 2016. Dr. Agre shared the 2003 Nobel Prize in Chemistry for discovering aquaporins, a family of water-channel proteins found throughout nature that underlie numerous physiological processes and clinical disorders. He is deeply involved in multiple global issues, and is the current director of the Johns Hopkins Malaria Research Institute, which conducts research in Zambia and Zimbabwe. Read more

Dr. Jules Hoffmann will also speak. He is a professor of integrative biology at the Strasbourg University Institute for Advanced Study. He is also emeritus research director of the French National Research Center, and he served as vice president and president of the French National Academy of Sciences from 2006-2010. Drs. Hoffmann and Bruce Beutler were jointly awarded the 2011 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine for "their discoveries concerning the activation of innate immunity". Using insects as model organisms, Dr. Hoffmann unraveled the Toll pathway that activates the Drosophila innate immunity. Of note, his father was a devout entomologist. Read more about him.

Still Time to Nominate Plenary Speakers for ICE 2016

Submissions for daily plenary speakers during ICE will be accepted from anyone in the global entomological community and related disciplines until October 1, 2014. There are six easy steps to make a nomination. Each submitter may nominate only one speaker. The Plenary Speakers at the Congress should reflect the diversity as embodied in the 2016 Congress theme, Entomology without Borders. Nominate today!

Submit Your Symposia Early

Show your leadership skills by organizing a symposium at the Congress. Symposia for ICE 2016 will be 2-4 hours in length and will feature 15-minute presentations related to the symposium topic. Symposia will be related to 30 identified scientific sections. Find more details here.

Participate in the Free Webinar, "ICE 2016: Networking Internationally to Maximize Your Professional Connections"

This engaging panel discussion will include a brief history on the ICE Congresses, benefits of participating in ICE 2016, and advice for how to plan and prepare in order to maximize the value of the event. There will be plenty of time for questions. The webinar will be held live on Friday, October 31 from 1:00 PM – 2:00 PM U.S. Eastern Time and will be archived on ESA's website. Mark your calendar for this helpful event and watch ICE 2016 news for more information.

Promotion & Outreach

ICE Organizing Committee Co-Chairs and other ESA leaders continue to travel around the globe making formal presentations, promoting the Congress, and engaging other societies. These meetings have been well attended with delegates representing a multitude of countries. ICE organizers are seeing keen interest in the 2016 Congress from delegates representing all parts of the world.

Since May, ICE 2016 Co-Chairs Walter Leal and Alvin Simmons and other ESA leaders have participated in the following events: The 8th Meeting of the IOBC-WPRS Working Group 'The International Plant Resistance to Insects Workshop' meeting in Valsugana, Italy; the International Society of Chemical Ecology meeting in Champaign-Urbana, Illinois; the 17th World Congress for the International Union for the Study of Social Insects (IUSI14) in Cairns, Australia; and the Royal Entomology Society's 10th European Congress of Entomology (ECE2014) and ESA's International Branch Meeting in York, UK. A big THANK YOU is extended to the various societies and organizations for providing program time to share ICE 2016 updates at their meetings.

The Entomological Society of America (ESA) is the largest organization in the world serving the professional and scientific needs of entomologists and individuals in related disciplines.

Founded in 1889, ESA has nearly 7,000 members affiliated with educational institutions, health agencies, private industry, and government. Members are researchers, teachers, extension service personnel, administrators, marketing representatives, research technicians, consultants, students, pest management professionals and hobbyists.
